To Whom It May Concern:

Of all the performers I have had the pleasure of knowing and working with Larry McLean is one of whom I would highly recommend. He has the ability to change his voice to imitate that of the original artist. So rather than an audience hearing one singer the entire night they hear several throughout a performance. He is a seasoned performer and as such he has a fine selection of songs that an audience truly enjoys hearing and dancing to. By far he is a true entertainer with a touch of comedy added.

Over the past three years, Larry McLean has performed at the Royal Canadian Legion, Ambassador Branch 143 and he has proven to be a favorite amongst our 50+ audience. Larry prides himself in playing songs that were big hits from the past. He continuously improves his repertoire and excels in professional entertainment. He creates an environment whereby his audience feels like they are part of a music celebration.

Larry McLean is a seasoned performer, a superb vocal impressionist with a touch of comedy and I highly recommend him as a professional musician for your establishment.
